Message from Dr. Amjad Saqib

Executive Director, Akhuwat

Poverty is not just lack of resources; it is deprivation of social justice and morality. Poverty in its worst form is hopelessness. The chain of poverty is not so strong that it is unbreakable. Our destination is a chain of lights which has brightness all around!

NJV Sufi Night

Music is considered as the food for soul by great philosophers.

Spiritual or Sufi music heals our mind, body and soul with an awakening connection to God. Akhuwat too stands tall with its pillars Eman, Ehsaan, Ikhlas to reach similar pinnacles of spiritual success by building a compassionate, interest-free society equipped with skills and opportunities to bring a better tomorrow!

To spread the message of love and peace, we held a Sufi Night on the 17th of November 2018.

The corporates, youth, celebrities, alumni and influential people were awestruck with the transformed glory and beauty of the oldest public school of Sindh, NJV Government Higher Secondary School. Over 800 people enjoyed the performances of Ustaad Fareed Ayaz and Abu Muhammad, and appreciated Akhuwat's efforts in revamping NJV from a neglected school to a school that never sleeps. From providing quality education, afterschool classes, project days, extracurriculars to provide boarding to the students of rural Sindh, NJV is the only public school which has it all covered for the underprivileged masses.

Shah Abdul Latif Bhattai Day

The great Sufi Saint Scholar, Shah Abdul Latif Bhattai, is still widely remembered today for his soul-searching verses in Sindh. Considered as the greatest scholar in Sindh, his life and poems teach us valuable lessons.

With this thought in mind, we celebrated Latif Day to pay tribute to the great scholar and learn from the priceless jewels he has left behind. Thus students got a flavour of his poetry through tableau performance, speech and poem recitation to learn about the rich culture and heritage of Sindh.

Gearing up for Exams

This year, we had 71% clearing the board exams. To keep improving in exams here are some important tips:

- Remember not to stretch beyond the specified study time. 2 hours study can be further divided into 4 parts. 25 minutes studying followed by 5 minutes of break.
- Remember, 80% of the questions in exams are from the core material. Comprising of important law, theory, formulae, theorem, graph and diagram.
- Your notes determine your board exam score. Writing and highlighting while you study is an effective last-minute study tips. Use visual reminders for easy memorization.

How hostel life uplifts your personality

- We have set times for waking up, studies, relaxation, meals and going to bed. We hope to embed in them the true value of time and how to manage it.
- There are rules and regulations they must adhere to. We hope to teach them to become disciplined, responsible and law-abiding leaders of tomorrow.
- We have Life Skill classes and mentoring sessions which aims to teach them values and grooming manners. We hope to yield compassionate leaders of tomorrow.
- We give them a small pocket money monthly. We hope to teach them the invaluable lesson of money management.
- We give them time to play in the evening. We want them to lead a happy, healthy and cheerful life.
- We take our students out to the malls, beaches, museums to expose them to situations, to broaden their horizon by observing their surroundings and make them creative problems solvers and effective decision makers.

- We teach our students to eat their food with gratitude, stay silent if their mate is studying, support their mate if he/she is homesick and more. We want them to be considerate about others.
- We make sure that all our students get along with each other. We want them to adjust with all kinds of people and situations.

Above all, we let them question and give opinions, so they become free-thinkers!

Teacher's Testimonial

Education is the main agent to cause a lasting change and can help set off a chain of positive change in our lives. Akhuwat NJV's contribution to nurture underprivileged children is of huge importance in society. When i see these kids smiling and moving towards their right to be in between privileged society, i feel happy for our little contributions in making themselves more progressive and confident.

I can say my journey at NJV is "the journey from hope to accomplishment".

NJV gave me a chance to pursue my passion for studies and proved that money is not a barrier! What I am learning is not theoretical study but what I am learning is how to live an exemplary practical life.

Secretary Education visited NJV

Qazi Shahid Pervez, Secretary School Education visited the school on 17th December 2018.

This is what he has to say: I am impressed with the way 'Akhuwat' is managing this school. They are restoring its historical splendor and excellence. I interviewed few parents aspiring for there children admission here. They prefer NJV over private schools. This is reflective of the march of NJV towards excellence. Thank you 'Akhuwat'
